The editorial board of the International Journal of Information Resource Management (IJIRM) is delighted to bring to you the third quarter, 2025 edition of the journal. The International Journal of Information Resource Management (IJIRM) is a high quality peer-review scholarly journal published quarterly in the University of Nigeria, Nsukka. The journal is devoted to the dissemination of relevant, contemporary issues and general knowledge in all areas of library and Information resource management and related areas.

This issue, as the previous ones, has a good mix of high quality empirical, opinion and theoretical papers. After a thorough peer review process, forty three (43) papers were selected and included in this issue. The editorial board of the journal is grateful to all who have contributed to this edition and have patiently waited for it. Articles in this volume cover many aspects of library and information science, especially on novel areas. These include papers on various areas and aspects of information resource management such as electronic information resources and emerging technologies, contemporary and global best practices in LIS covering various types of libraries, library and information science education, management of archival records, and information entrepreneurship.

Specifically, papers cover areas such as digital library operations, knowledge organization, artificial intelligence (AI), fee-based library services, wealth creation, conference attendance, climate change, green library initiatives, cyber security, Internet of Things (iot), institutional repositories, cloud based technology, research data management, web-based resources, digitisation, career commitment, information retrieval, open access, social media, staff training and performance, literacy skills, research collaboration, inclusive library and information services, library blogs, and marketing.

These and more are indeed very interesting papers, and we have no doubt that these articles will meet the multifarious teaching, learning, and research interests of Library and Information professionals and students. We therefore, invite you to take time to savor this varied menu of professional literature.
